

In creating landscapes the artist's aim is to create space. She loves painting fields and with the use of colours creates depth.

Through this type of painting her goal is to capture the viewer's attention and make him/her move about freely within the painting. Nowadays we are all a bit caught up in the hustle and bustle of our daily lives and we are not able to capture and appreciate the beauty of nature, but not only nature...The artist tries to immortalize it through the creation of landscapes. If a client wishes to have a landscape, he/she must provide the artist with a picture. An estimate will then be sent, followed by the creation and sale of the painting.
